Office Furniture that Gives Zest to the Routine Work of the Day

Business Looking Pieces

Let the office furniture be right and work slips along easily with a seeming indifference to time—especially is this true of the roll top desk, the swinging chair and the general utility table where the telephone stands. It certainly pays to buy good furniture for the office work.

We have several sizes in Golden Oak Roll Top Desks, a dozen styles in Leather Seat and Swing Back Chairs—fourteen sizes in Utility Desks.

As we are specialists in office furniture we buy in larger quantities than the ordinary furniture house and hence are always able to quote considerably lower prices.

We are sole agents for Barre and vicinity for Macey Filing Appliances. Have you this system in your office? If you have not, hadn't you better get acquainted with it?

NEARLY ASPHYXIATED.

Family of John Bachand of Burlington Very Ill.

Burlington, Feb. 24.—The family of John Bachand, who lives at 28 South Winoski avenue, narrowly escaped death by asphyxiation from coal gas yesterday morning. Mrs. Bachand and the three small children had, however, recovered last evening and with the exception of the mother, who is still in a weakened condition, were suffering no ill effects.

Bachand, who is employed by the city, arose at 5:30, the usual hour, shook down the fire and went to his work, leaving the drafts in the stove open.

The stove pipe which runs through one of the bed rooms became dislodged, probably by the shaking of the stove, and after Bachand left the gas poured into the bed rooms, the windows of which were tightly closed.

Mrs. Bachand awoke about 7:30 and was at first unable to move but the smell of gas told her the trouble and finally, by a heroic effort, she crawled down stairs to the street door, which she opened, allowing the fresh air to enter. With her remaining strength she went back to the smallest child, who is four years old, and aroused the others, six and nine years of age, who managed to crawl and roll down stairs. The youngest was then black in the face and was thought to be dead.

An employee of the Burlington Light & Power company, who was passing, heard Mrs. Bachand's call for aid and he quickly summoned Dr. F. K. Jackson, who was on the scene in a few minutes.

He restored all to consciousness after several hours' work. The children were quickly revived but Mrs. Bachand, who was suffering from an attack of the grip, had not entirely recovered last evening, although she is not considered to be in any danger.

CHEERFULNESS.

A Great Asset in Business as Well as in Society.

Cheerfulness will attract more customers, sell more goods, do more business with less wear and tear than almost any other quality, says Orison Sweet Mardon in Success Magazine.

Optimism is the greatest business getter, biggest trader, the greatest achiever in the world. Pessimism has never done anything but tear down and destroy what optimism has built up.

In the business office, as in society everywhere, the favorite is always the cheerful person. Good natured, cheerful people do not waste their vital energy as rapidly as the grumbler or the too sober, too sad people. They work with much less friction.

Good cheer is a great lubricant. It oils all of life's machinery. There is no other life habit which can give such a prolific return in happiness and satisfaction as that of being cheerful under all circumstances. If the resolution to cultivate cheerfulness is strongly made at the very outset it will not be difficult to form the cheerful habit, and it will be the best protection against suffering and disappointment.

Cheerfulness is also a great producer. It adds wonderfully to one's active ability and increases mental and physical power. It makes hosts of friends and helps us to be interesting and agreeable.

EFFECT OF HEAT.

Why Standing Before a Hot Fire Makes the Face Red.

When one stands before a hot fire the face becomes red, as we all know. This result is the effect of the action of radiated heat on the nerves controlling the small blood vessels of the skin. These tiny vessels are normally in a state of moderate contraction.

Under exposure to heat they relax and become dilated with blood. The same process, under the mysterious connection of the vasomotor nerve system with mental impressions, produces ordinary blushing.

In regard to exposure to direct heat the reddening of the skin, together with the uncomfortably warm feeling accompanying it, may be looked upon as one of the useful little "danger signals" with which we are surrounded. Persons who from any cause have lost their susceptibility, as in the case in some forms of paralysis, may expose a limb to heat until serious injury results.

The reason that the face chiefly flushes is that in the ordinary position near a fire it is most directly exposed to the rays of heat, while most of the body is shielded by clothing; that the nerves of the face are particularly sensitive in this respect and that the skin there is more abundantly furnished with blood vessels.—London Standard.

Art of Papermaking.

In the matter of making and using paper we are not in line with the Chinese and other Asiatics, who not only make the finest paper in the world, but apply it to all sorts of uses, making window panes, fans, umbrellas, sandals and even cloaks and other garments of it. The art of making paper from mulberry bark is said to have been invented in China in the second century B. C. Afterward bamboo shoots, straw, grass and other materials were also used. The manufacture spread to the adjacent countries. The Arabs learned it in Samarkand, and their learned men carefully kept secret the process by which they made paper for their own use. The crusades made Europe acquainted with the art, and the first paper mill in Germany dates from the twelfth century.
